

Glenn Wicks

Mr. Glenn Wicks is the founder and President of The Wicks Group, a Washington, D.C.-based consulting firm. He has more than 25 years of experience in providing both consulting and legal services to clients in the aviation sector, including the Federal Aviation Administration, foreign civil aviation authorities, air carriers, airports and airport management companies, repair stations, and others. Mr. Wicks established The Wicks Group to deliver targeted technical assistance to aviation clients, including civil aviation authorities seeking a proven methodology and turnkey solution for demonstrating compliance with international civil aviation safety oversight and monitoring standards.

In addition to founding the firm, Mr. Wicks has personally directed a wide range of consulting projects to assist clients with making policy, management, operations, or documentation improvements. He has extensive international consulting experience, with a proven ability to translate international standards and recommended practices into policies and procedures that work well for a particular country's civil aviation system.

Mr. Wicks holds a Juris Doctor, with Honors, from The George Washington University. He has served as a member of the Governing Board of the American Bar Association Forum on Air & Space Law and on the Editorial Board of The George Washington University International Journal of Law and Economics. He is a frequent speaker and panelist at international aviation conferences, and most recently spoke on a panel discussing aviation sector skills development at the 2015 US-India Aviation Summit in Bengaluru, India, sponsored by the US Trade and Development Agency and the India Ministry of Civil Aviation.
