

Juergen Keitel

Juergen Keitel graduated with a Bachelor of Engineering in Air Transport Engineering in 1995 from City University London. Before completing his Master of Science in Air Transport Management at Cranfield University, he worked in the Supply Chain Group of British Airways. Following his 3 years at Airbus Industries in Material Support in Hamburg, Germany, he moved to America West Airlines as Financial Analyst in the United States. Over the past 10 years Juergen was employed in various roles at Airbus in Customer Services, Supply Chain Management and Business Development for the Americas region based in Washington DC, USA. Since 2014 he is a Global Leadership Fellow at the World Economic Forum serving as Community Lead for the Aviation and Travel industry based out of the Forum's New York City office. Throughout his career, Juergen has gained a vast experience in the aviation industry in strategy and development, international relations and commercial operations. With his knowledge and vision he develops strategies and applications for transformative and disruptive business models in the aviation sector.