

Mr. Chris HURREY

Mr. Hurrey has seemingly spent most of his adult life dealing with border management issues. He was a member of the UK Immigration Service for 34 years, serving at London Heathrow Airport and on foreign postings, retiring as Assistant Director in 2010. He was closely involved with the UK's eBorders system, automated border control gates as well as designing computer-based intelligence and case handling systems. Since becoming a freelance consultant he has carried on doing the same thing – except it's more fun.