

Alejandro Restrepo Marino holds a Civil Law Degree from Universidad del Rosario (Bogotá, Colombia, 2005), with legal studies from Universidad Carlos III de Madrid, Spain. He also holds an LL.M. in Air and Space Law from McGill University (Montreal, Canada, 2009). His more than 10 years of professional experience include working as an associate lawyer for prestigious law firms in Colombia and as Legal Assistant Director for the Colombian Air Transport Association in Bogotá. Mr. Restrepo joined IATA on November 2009 as Consultant, Security and Facilitation department in Montreal, and later re-joined in 2014 as Manager, Security and Facilitation for the Americas, current position which he has been holding for the past two years. Under his current position, Mr. Restrepo is responsible for driving industry policies and procedures to combat acts of unlawful interference against civil aviation, to protect airline customers, personnel and property, and to support the implementation of global best practices on facilitation processes.