

Gabriel Mocho Rodriguez

Civil Aviation and Tourism Services Secretary International Transport Workers' Federation (ITF)

Gabriel Mocho Rodriguez is the Civil Aviation and Tourism Services Secretary of the International Transport Workers' Federation (ITF) supporting the General Secretary and Chairs in leading the sections.

The ITF represents almost 670 unions in 147 countries with 18.5 million workers in all transport modes.

Gabriel started his career in the aviation industry as a Cabin Crew member in 1988 and had served as leader of the National Cabin Crew union of Argentina for 12 years before joining the ITF.

He was appointed by the Executive Board of the ITF in 2009 to take responsibility of leading the secretariat of the Civil Aviation and Tourism Services Sections of the organisation with headquarters in London, UK.

He has represented the 254 ITF aviation unions from 117 countries in several international fora and UN agencies (e.g. International Civil Aviation Organization –ICAO- and International Labour Organization –ILO-) leading delegations of union leaders into the discussions of the present and future of the aviation industry.