

Mr. Evans Omondi is the Head of Curriculum Development and Research Unit, an Instructional System Design Unit for East African School of Aviation (EASA) under Kenya Civil Aviation Authority (KCAA)

Currently he is EASA-ICAO GAT focal point task with ensuring EASA training programs comply with relevant ICAO provisions and the competency-based training methodology, EASA being one of ICAO TCE and TPP Member (Platinum).

Mr. Evans have Engineering Background in Telecommunications Systems and holds a Master's degree in Data Communication.

Prior to this Post, He worked in Air Navigation Services Department of KCAA – in Communication, Navigation and Surveillance/Air Traffic Management (CNS/ATM) System as Aeronautical Telecommunications Officer for over a decade before he was called to offer instructions on CNS programs in EASA. Later in 2012, moved to Course Development unit as ICAO Qualified Course Developer

His instructional design experience of over 14 years has seen him as part of team that has developed 7 STPs and one M-ITP currently in ICAO training Library from EASA. Currently working on two courses underdevelopment from EASA.

He is also qualified ICAO- STP instructor on ANS-CNS inspector course/CAA Certified CNS inspector, ATSEP Competency Assessor course and recently ICAO TIC course Instructor.