In June, 2017, IATA published a foresight study on how aviation could be affected by trends in economics, politics, technology, society and the environment over the next 20 years. The session will provide an overview of key themes and questions raised in the report. It will also provide an opportunity to discuss the greatest risks and challenges for aviation in the future and how we can collaborate as industry and governments to address them today.

Participants will have the opportunity to interact with industry experts and government colleagues. Please RSVP to peterst@iata.org if you would like to attend.
