

INTERPOL

Adriaan Kamphorst
Sales Manager

Morpho
BU ID Documents

Montreal, 23 October 2013

INTERPOL is the world's largest international police organization, with 190 member countries. Their role is to enable police around the world to work together to make the world a safer place. INTERPOL's high-tech infrastructure of technical and operational support helps meet the growing challenges of fighting crime in the 21st century.

INTERPOL - NEEDS

“Criminals can cross borders swiftly and effortlessly, while our Heads of National Central Bureaus, law enforcement colleagues and even our General Secretariat staff are slowed down or stopped because of legitimate but time consuming visa requirements and bureaucratic international red tape, which constitutes a major impediment to keeping the world safe.”

Ronald K. Noble, INTERPOL Secretary General.

→ Customer assumption

- State-of-the-Art solution
- Personalisation and issuing technology at location
- Introduction at the Assembly at Rome, November 2012
- ICAO standard
- Laser engraved biographical data
- Match with house style
- Contactless chip
 - Basic Access Control (BAC)
 - Extended Access Control (EAC)

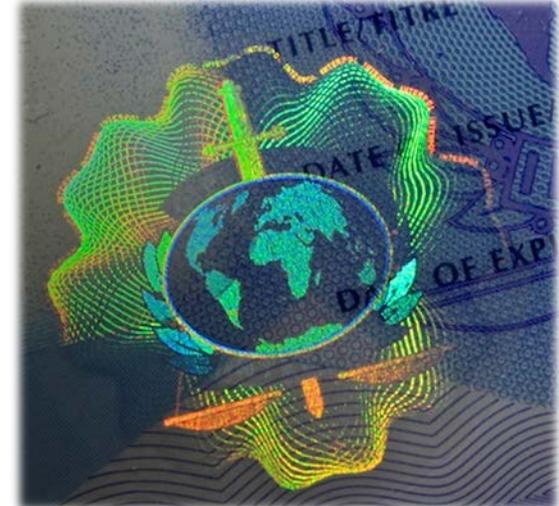

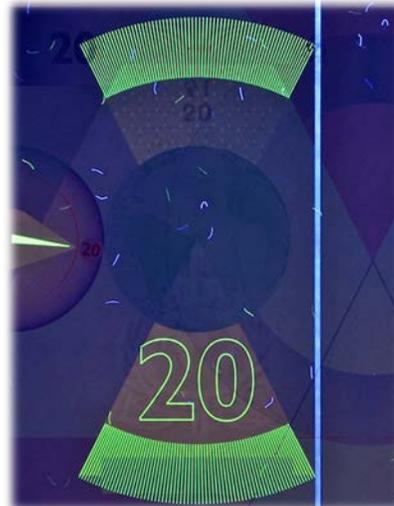

CONSORTIUM

INTERPOL - DECISIONS

→ Uniform (mandatory) security features

- Security paper with watermark and security thread
- Security design
- UV print
- Transparent Kinegram®

INTERPOL - DECISIONS

→ Additional security features

- Tactile relief
- Intaglio printing
- Latent image
- SPARK ®
- 3D Photo ID®

INTERPOL - 3D PHOTO ID

- INTERPOL first passport of the world with 3D Photo ID feature
- Strong protection against photo manipulation
- 4 Photo's in the same area, laser engraved under different angles
- Fulfils the security philosophy
 - Easy to communicate
 - Easy to check
 - Hard to manipulate

INTERPOL – ENROLLMENT AND PERSONALISATION

→ Enrolment

- Plug and Play
- Mobile solution
- Local solution in Lyon

→ Personalisation

- Management system
- Personalisation site at INTERPOL head Office in Lyon

Thanks for your attention