

Angela C. Albritton

Director, Military Relations and Strategic Initiatives, Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University

Ms. Albritton is a bilingual professional with more 30 years of international aviation experience in airline operations, education and corporate training. She developed her aviation career in a variety of roles, ranging from passenger service roles at Pan American World Airways to flight operations and dispatch at Deutsche Lufthansa. She expanded her aviation career to include projects in curriculum design, instruction and consulting for a number of aviation organizations to include Delta Connection Academy, Commercial Airline Pilot Training Program and Airways New Zealand.

Ms. Albritton has been working at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University's Worldwide Campus since 2011, serving in various roles in Military and Government Relations, as well as Strategic Initiatives for the Chancellor's Office. In her current role, she facilitates and manages industry partnerships to assist and train transitioning U.S. military service members to enter well-paying careers within the IT industry. She is currently developing a similar career skills transition program for aviation maintenance. Ms. Albritton teaches as an adjunct assistant professor in the College of Aeronautics.

Ms. Albritton holds a master's degree in Aeronautics from Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University with a Human Factors specialization; a Bachelor's degree in Management from the University of Maryland, University College and professional educator credentials from the University of New Mexico. Ms. Albritton holds an FAA private pilot's license and an FAA Aviation English instructor certificate.

Ms. Albritton is married to Dr. Frankie P. Albritton, Jr. They have two daughters who both serve in the U.S. military.