General Manager, Airbus Beijing Engineering Center Ltd.

Michel Tran Van was appointed General Manager of Airbus Beijing Engineering Center on 1 September 2016.

Passionate about the challenges of the aeronautics industry, Michel has been serving Airbus for more than 15 years, previously holding a number of senior management positions in engineering in France, UK and Germany.

Michel's experience notably includes internationally heading the material and test laboratories in 2015, the non-specific design of A350 in 2010 and leading some aircraft system design and integration since 2002.

Michel was born in 1980 in Lyon, France. He received his education in Mechanical Engineering specializing in fluids mechanics.

As a constant learner and keen traveler, Michel aims at adding Mandarin to the list of languages he speaks: English, French, Spanish and German.
