

Mekki Lahlou

Mekki Lahlou is the Head of Training Operations in the Global Aviation Training Section of the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO). He is responsible for ensuring the smooth operations of ICAO's training activities now implemented in more than 75 ICAO Member States. Prior to joining ICAO, Mekki headed the public affairs department at the Amadeus Institute, a euro-Mediterranean think tank based in Morocco, and was a policy analyst at the International Air Transport Association's (IATA) Government and Industry Affairs department in Geneva. Mekki holds a Bachelors Degree in Political Science from McGill University and a Masters Degree in International Public Management from l'Institut d'Etudes Politique de Paris.